Construction & Engineering

Introduction

Core Claims Management provides high quality technical claims services to an exceptional standard utilising experienced and qualified staff.

Philosophy

We have a straightforward philosophy in handling claims in the Construction and Civil Engineering arenas.

We employ experienced, technical Loss Adjusters and we treat our staff well. By these means we have found that we give clients a very good product backed up with first class service.

Whom do we act for

- Insurance Companies
- Captives
- Project Insurers
- Self-insured Construction Companies

We deal with

- Contractors All Risks and Engineering claims
- Contractors Liability
- Project Insurance Claims

What we do

We have attracted and retained talented and experienced insurance professionals in the construction and civil engineering fields to include those with mechanical, pipeline and tunnelling expertise.

As a result the company has the ability to offer clients the highest level of construction claims management across the disciplines. All client facing staff are qualified and members of professional bodies.

Our people are key to our service. We employ Loss Adjusters who have fundamental knowledge of the Building & Civil Engineering Industries and contracts used in these industries.

We aim to develop and maintain relationships with our clients.

What we charge

Our fees are bespoke for each client. For further information, please contact Alan Hines.
